

Booker T. Washington

Booker T. Washington, established in 1913, is a high school committed to diversity and excellence in academics, athletics, and fine arts, which serves students from every racial, ethnic, religious and socio-economic group in Tulsa. Booker T. Washington continues to thrive based on the twin ideals of promoting academic excellence and acceptance of diversity. This experience has enhanced our institution to be one of the most successful secondary schools in the United States as we rank among the top 100 high schools in America according to Newsweek Magazine for five consecutive years. Booker T. Washington is on the forefront of academic trends, and has one of two International Baccalaureate Diploma programs, the only high school Middle Years Programme and has the largest number of Advanced Placement and world language offerings in the state.
